Why Ancestral Grain ?

- One of the important steps to prevent diabetes, obesity and related chronic diseases is to eat foods with low glycaemic index that do not fluctuate blood sugar.
- In cases where blood sugar is constantly rising depending on the diet, the insulin hormone peaks in the body and tries to balance excess blood sugar. Although insulin resistance may occur in diets where blood sugar fluctuates continuously due to the fact that it is designed with foods with high glycaemic index; fat formation can be seen in both internal organs and other tissues.
- Foods with a low glycaemic index help regulate blood sugar as they are digested slowly. Foods with low glycaemic index, which contribute to the digestive system and kidney health, support the protection of the health of many organs. It is also effective in maintaining the ideal weight as it provides regular energy and satiety.
- Carni Life Cranberry Ancestral Grain series products contain only spelt and oats with low glycaemic index.

CARNI[®] CRANBERRY Life ANCESTRAL GRAIN

Why Cranberry ?

- Our products in the Carni Life Cranberry Ancestral Grain series contain cranberry content to benefit your pet's metabolism. Cranberry, which has a high vitamin C content, is a powerful antioxidant and acts as a natural and effective shield for general health; It also supports the immune system of cats and dogs.
- Cranberry, which is also a strong diuretic, plays an active role in the protection of urinary tract, circulatory and digestive system health thanks to the anti-inflammatory and blood sugar regulating properties of polyphenols in its content.

Hasvet, which we rather address as “Hasvet Ecosystem” is comprised of many complementary brands serving a unified purpose: to accompany veterinarians along their development and transformation journey by incorporating all components that constitute the global veterinary health sector such as medical devices, pharmaceuticals, trainings, surgical instruments, clinical software systems, industrial clinical equipment, feeding solutions, health services, clinic design and architecture.

In order to serve our vision ‘to create a living ecosystem with a patient-oriented approach by strengthening every component of the system and casting light upon every aspect of veterinary medicine’, we keep on working unabated by putting the patient at the center of our goals through contributing the professional development of the veterinarians in order to maximize animal welfare.

As Fi Petfood, we will continue to move forward with determination to become the pet nutrition brand of the future with our wide product range, innovative approach and expert consultant staff, adhering to our ethical and scientific principles.

Each kibble in Fi Petfood products contains ideal formulation, scientific knowledge, health, lifelong comfort for our pets, support for medical treatment and our love for our little friends.
